From The Thunder of Silence, Chapter 4

"When we are able to rise above the realm of thought to that high place where we have no opinion whether anything or anybody is good or evil, but are willing to be a perfect transparency for the instruction of God, then God speaks in our ear and shows us the spiritual reality which exists right where that "man of flesh" who "cannot please God" appears to be; but in that instant when God speaks, the man of flesh is transformed into the Son of God and is immediately returned to the Garden of Eden where he is now the Son of God living under God's government.

"I have been asked many times, "How do you stop thinking?" I have found one way. The minute I can look at any person or condition and know that it is neither good nor evil, my thought stops, and my mind becomes quiet. That is the end of it because then there are no thoughts left for me to think about it: I do not think good of it and I do not think evil of it. All I know is that it is, and then I am back at the center of my being where all power is. Our mind is restless only when we are thinking about things or persons, either in terms of good or evil, but the mind is at rest when we surrender all such concepts."

From 1956 Letters, Chapter 4, Neither Good nor Evil, The Middle Path

"Mark well this principle of The Infinite Way: our work is to bring release from the physical sense of the universe; release from the physical sense of health of body or business. This is quite different from the ordinary metaphysical practice of exchanging sickness for health, lack for abundance, loneliness for companionship. Can you not recall how often you have been ill and prayed or treated for health; or have been in lack and desired abundance? Such prayers or treatments sometimes are successful on the level of belief - exchanging one physical condition, discord, for another, harmony - but they have nothing to do with spiritual regeneration or realizing Christhood!

"Infinite Way practice means neither fearing evil nor desiring good (physicality) but, rather, attaining realization of God. We recognize neither good nor evil in any effect, appearance, or form - but, rather, that God alone is the reality, the law, substance, and activity of all form. This is release from even the good or harmonious physical sense to a realization of spiritual harmony, spiritual peace, spiritual abundance. "

From Tape 100 Side 1, Principles of Healing

"I ask you this. Is there any truth that I should know about a mortal? Is there any truth about a mortal? Is there any truth about a human being? Is there any truth about a human being? No. Supposing we had a good human being and a healthy human being and wealthy human being. Then what would we have? A nice illusion instead of a bad one. A good dream instead of a bad dream. You see that?" . . .

. . . "You mustn't glorify humanity. You mustn't glorify a human being. You mustn't spiritualize a mortal. You must let it die. You must die daily to everything about you that is human or mortal and material" . . .

. . . "and so we come to a place in our work that is called 'the middle path'. And that middle path is the secret of our healing work. That middle path is when I can look at the employed and the unemployed, the young and the old, the sick and the well, the saint and the sinner and say I don't believe any of it and I'm not interested in changing any of it, because I see right down the middle, I see the spirit. I see the soul.

"Remember how many times we've had this drill, this exercise of looking down at our feet and then traveling all the way up to our head and finding we aren't there, that all of this that we call ourselves isn't really ourself at all, it's our body" . . .

. . . "If you do not start with the word God in this work, you'll find yourself back in some kind of mental metaphysics trying to improve the human scene or spiritualize it, and that's not what we're doing". . . .

. . . "And so it is, it is going to be with us. We're going to have to come to that place in consciousness where we lose ourselves, where we die daily. And when we do and we no longer have concern for preserving the longevity of this body. And when you stop to think that all there is to the fear of bombs is the fear of giving up some of our longevity. We still have, some of us, ten, twenty years of human span before us, and some have thirty and forty, and we just don't want to give up a day or two of it. Even knowing that in the end it's got to be anyhow. But we'd like to hold on to that last one, two or three days, weeks or months. Well, in the human picture that's alright, but not in the spiritual. In the spiritual picture if you cannot lay down your life or pick it up you haven't seen the vision.

"Now watch what happens to your healing work the moment you've lost concern for your body or its longevity. That means you've lost concern for your neighbor's body or their longevity and that gives you a chance not to be concerned about their body or their state of health. When they come to you now with a problem, you'll be thinking of their soul, that middle path, and you won't be trying to make them better humans nor will you be trying to spiritualize humanity."
